“ I met Dani when I was about 10 and became very close to the family. I remember quite a few things about her the smile on her face, how when she got excited she let the world know by quite literally increasing the tone in her voice from meek to thundering in a heart beat, the fire in her eyes but most of all the love in her heart for everyone and everything. I remember one particular night when as like several other night the family gathered and laugh and joked on the porch. The family thought it would be funny to stand me and her side by side and took off my shirt. Pooh was so embarrassed she nearly beat me to a pulp. I wish we still had that picture. I wish I could take her to the carnival again, I wish I could hear her laugh one more time or hear her yell at me at least once more. Heck I even wish she could pop me in the head again. Fly with the Dragon flies our sweet sweet angel. The family knows what I mean when I tell you may the force be with you. You will be dearly missed sis. Give momma a hug for me and take care of Jeffie and my angel baby. We Love you so much our Pooh Bear.

“ Of course she was my baby sister, we would fight alot but when we were in trouble we would have each other to lean on. She was always doing something to get mom to yell at me and say she is your little sister you have to take care of her. I am sorry I couldn't take care of you this time. And you will be miss by all that know you. You have alot of family waiting on you. You fly high my sweet little sister and you be happy. Love you your big and(mean) sister charlcie

“ What can I say that won't sound to said about Pooh, of course she's my niece, a free spirit that walked the path she was comfortable to be,.. Was shy at times, and boisterous most of the time, so happy to just be where every she was...Momma must have needed you, Pooh,, so take care of Mom, grandma, grandpa, and all the rest that are waiting to hold you again...love you and will miss you dearly... Between you and Cora my life was never dull...lol

“ She was one of my close friends in school. When I was down she would always put a smile on my face. You could always count on her to be there when you needed someone. I will miss her
