“ Hello momma ? I miss you more than you could ever imagine. I still don't understand why this is all happening like it is but I guess things happen for a reason. I cannot possibly wait another moment to see you in heaven I know that you love it there I'm sure it's beautiful. I keep expecting you to show up and make me laugh everytime I find myself crying over your absence but you don't and I guess that's something I need to get used to! I know you're with me everywhere I go and I couldn't ask for a better guardian angel. ? I love you momma help me keep a smile on my face because right now I could use it. ?

“ I know you are at peace now, that you are dancing with the angels, You will always be in my thoughts. Until we meet again, then you will be right with me our friendship will never end. I pray that God eases the pain of the loved ones you had to leave, I know in my heart you are still with them, that you are sorry you had to go. I can't even imagine the welcoming party you had as you walked through heavens gates, the ones that had crossed before you waiting to bring you home, So please tell them all I said hello and I will see y'all when my days are at a end. I will never forget you Lisa your memory will live in me always.

This is not good bye my friend this is see ya later alligator !!! Love always,
Patty
